LETTER FROM THE HEAD OF SCHOOL

NANCY STARMER

Dear Friends,

Thanks to your continued support and the efforts of all members of the faculty and staff, George School thrives as a community dedicated to educating students and providing them the best possible environment to learn and excel.

The school recently completed a re-accreditation process that occurs once every ten years. Following an intense, four-day visit this past spring by a team of educators from independent schools throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, George School not only received confirmation of reaccreditation but also a glowing report that contained this passage:

“It was a unique privilege to witness the daily operations of a school that is so in tune with its own identity. The guiding principles to which the school subscribes provide an exceptional educational environment where students are challenged to uncover important lessons not only about history, or science, or literature, but about inclusivity, community decision-making, and the value of integrity and honor. The hard work and affirmative spirit of students, faculty, and staff have created a vital organization that is on a most positive trajectory to grow and prosper in the future.”

For those who have never read a reaccreditation report, this is high praise indeed!

On the academic front, George School underwent a significant review of its curriculum from 2002 to 2007. The recommended changes have now been thoroughly implemented and the school is flourishing. One good example is our International Baccalaureate (IB) program, which George School has offered since 1985 but expanded significantly through our curriculum review. We now have over one hundred juniors and seniors enrolled in this challenging curriculum, and I am very proud that every one of the diploma candidates in the Class of 2011 earned their diplomas—a 100 percent success rate.

To put our IB record into perspective, this past year 2,239 schools in 134 countries offered the IB Diploma, and only 11 percent of those schools matched our high rate of success. In addition, the average score for George School students was a full 2.5 points above the world mean. This is a considerable feat given the very select academic population enrolled in the IB Diploma Program worldwide. While not all of our students are enrolled in this program, I believe that these accomplishments are indicative of the caliber of teaching and learning that goes on in all of our classrooms.

We have come a long way in the last decade toward providing our faculty and students with the academic and residential facilities they need to do their best work in those arenas. Looking forward, we understand that it is time to work on the athletic and physical education facilities that will enable our students and teachers to do their best work in these areas. To that end, we launched a review of our athletic program and also engaged Bowie Gridley Architects (the same firm that designed our new library) to begin designs for a new athletic and fitness facility.

In addition to hiring architects and doing a feasibility study, we have had lots of conversations about athletics with the faculty and with the George School Committee. Across the board, these groups are enthusiastically supportive of this project. The George School Committee is so convinced of these needs that they decided to put half of a $30 million bequest into the athletic facilities project to jump start our fundraising. They earmarked the other half for an endowment fund for faculty compensation.

Some additional highlights of the past year at George School include two newly renovated chemistry labs in the Spruance-Alden Science Center and the newly renovated and re-purposed McFeely building which now is a spectacular facility for the History Department. This past summer, we did a major renovation of Marshall Center to improve the building’s structure, expand the bookstore, renovate the snack bar, replace the lockers and flooring, and to install more efficient lighting and HVAC, all while using and reusing eco-friendly materials.

BRUCE WELER

Head of School Nancy Starmer thanked donors for their belief in and commitment to George School.

We also began work on a new turf field and track and were thrilled to be able to play our first field hockey and football games on the new field during Parents Visiting Day in October. The combination of these improvements, our new library, dedicated physical plant and grounds staff, and the commitment of the George School Committee, has resulted in a campus that is more beautiful and in better shape than ever.

Our recently expanded school garden now boasts a wood-fired oven that was designed and built by our food service director, the school gardener, one of our ceramics teachers, and an energetic group of student helpers. Two pizza dinners were held at the garden this spring. It was such a joy to see our students sitting in the late spring sun in the out-of-doors, surrounded by the garden and this extraordinarily beautiful campus. This is a small, but important step toward modeling an appreciation of nature and the value of healthy and nutritious food for a generation of teenagers that is sorely in need of such lessons.

All of these improvements and all of your gifts are meant to support the students and faculty who are the be-all and end-all of what we do here at George School. The funds you provide for student financial aid, faculty salaries, and renovation to our campus and facilities are what enable the “hard work and affirmative spirit” of our students, faculty and staff. Truly we could not do what we do without all of you.

Over the next year, I know your gifts will be an inspiration to others. On behalf of all of the current students, staff, and faculty of George School, I want to thank you again for your belief and commitment.

Again, my sincere thanks.

Nancy Starmer

ADMISSION

REFLECTIONS ON AN ADMISSION YEAR

Our applicant pool during the 2010-2011 school year was among the largest, strongest, and most diverse in our school's 128 year history. For the third year in a row, we saw a record group of applicants applying to George School.

- Inquiries increased more than 11 percent over the previous year.

- Completed applications increased more than 18 percent over all-time highs.

- Applications were submitted from 38 states and 55 countries.

Our applicants engaged in a spectrum of scholarly endeavors and athletic and artistic pursuits. Many of them also serve others and participate in their faith communities.

The Admission Office's integrated use of technology during the admission process continues to help us better track applications and communications with applicants and their families. More than half of our applicants logged in to view their admission decisions online within an hour of the posting at midnight, March 10. The first new student enrolled and paid the deposit online at 12:01 a.m. on that date.

George School was able to respond with care and agility to help families whose economic circumstances changed and provide them with the aid they need to remain enrolled as students.

We were also able to respond to the needs of new students because George School has one of the largest financial aid programs in the country, thanks to the many donors who have created endowments to make George School affordable to families. Our operating budget, in combination with proceeds from tuition-aid endowment fund, provides $6.1 million in tuition aid to 47 percent of our student body for the current academic year.

The new school year began in September 2011 with a community of 525 students in grades nine through twelve from eighteen states and forty countries. Because of our diversity, students are exposed to the world as it could be—a world where people of all different faiths, nationalities, ethnicities, economic levels, and cultures complement one another and flourish together.

ACADEMICS

A TRANSFORMATIVE
EDUCATIONAL EXPERIENCE

The 2010-2011 academic year was a success with the final implementation of changes from our recent five-year curriculum study. We continue to review and refine our curriculum, community life, and service programs to ensure that we provide a transformative educational experience that is deeply grounded in Friends values.

ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENTS

The 135 members of the Class of 2011 distinguished themselves academically. A record number of seniors sat for International Baccalaureate (IB) and Advanced Placement (AP) exams, and all forty-five IB diploma candidates—the largest cohort in George School history—earned the diploma. (This 100 percent success rate is a rare achievement for an IB school. The international success rate was approximately 81 percent this year.) The average IB score for George School students was 32 points, well above the 24 points required.

Among other accolades, ten seniors were recognized as Commended Students in the 2011 National Merit Scholarship Program and two—Jamifel Pacheco '11 and Andrew Chavez '11—received Honorable Mentions in the National Hispanic Recognition Program.

Walter Lomax '11 was named an Outstanding Participant in the National Achievement Scholarship Program, honoring black American high school students. Myra Jacobs became one of 1,000 students nationwide to be named a Gates Millennium Scholar. Kate Harkins '11 received a Comcast Leaders and Achievers Scholarship and Tatiana Dorff '11 received a Mary B. Kirk Scholarship.

Among George School's gifted writers, Andrea Lindsay '11 was named first runner-up in the Bucks County High School Poet of the Year Contest, while Arne Nelson '13 and Anneke Solomon '11 were among twenty-seven finalists. Anneke's poetry also received two Silver Keys and three Honorable Mentions in the regional portion of the 2011 Scholastic Art and Writing Awards.

Tony Chang '13 qualified for the 2011 USA Junior Mathematical Olympiad, sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America. Student groups represented George School at Model UN, Junior States of America (JSA), and robotics competitions. Three students received verbal commendations at the Ivy League Model United Nations Conference at the University of Pennsylvania, while JSA members initiated a new tradition of public debates on campus.

SERVICE

During school-sponsored service trips, groups of students set off to help improve the lives of others and in so doing changed their own lives for the better. Sixteen faculty and staff members led eighty-one students on eight trips: four domestic (New Orleans, northern Mississippi, Washington DC, and Kayenta, Arizona) and four international (France, Vietnam, Costa Rica, and Ghana).

Other students pursued service projects independently or locally, with Woods Services or—new this year—the Miracle League, which provides opportunities for individuals with mental and physical disabilities to participate in sports.

George School's Global Service Program offered service learning trips to China, Cuba, and Ecuador in 2011. The program, made possible through an Educational Leadership Grant from the Edward E. Ford Foundation, includes a Faculty Institute for service-learning trip leaders and offers transformative international service-learning experiences for both students and teachers.

Seniors performed far more service than required for service projects. They led American Red Cross blood drives, raised funds for relief in Japan, Vietnam, and Nicaragua, created and donated eighty bowls to combat hunger through the Empty Bowls Project, and organized the sixth annual Art for Relief which supported arts programs for inner-city youth in Philadelphia.

Leaders of Goldfish 'n Java helped create a practice room for school musicians, while student gardeners helped reap harvests from the organic garden. Members of the new sculpture class created a piece for the library rain garden, and a bee enthusiast convinced the school to set up beehives. Two students earned Eagle Scout awards from the Boy Scouts of America.

Officially, the graduating class performed more than 8,775 hours of community service while attending George School, but groups and individuals spent many more hours performing service in organized and impromptu ways.

ARTS

As befits George School's arts mission—to provide students the opportunity to explore creative expression through a variety of mediums—the year saw a wide variety of artistic achievements.

Theatrical productions ranged from Betty MacDonald's period comedy The Egg & I to the musical Grease to Peter Weiss's dark Marat/Sade. A record thirteen senior theater students submitted work to the International Baccalaureate, all at the higher level. Meanwhile, the 2011 edition of Dance Eclectic included a first-time collaboration with the robotics class, which brought both human and robot dancers to the Walton stage.

In addition to choral and orchestral concerts on campus, George School's student-musicians distinguished themselves in outside ensembles. Violinist Dora von Trentini '14 was featured as concertmaster and Emma Wells '13 played flute with the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association District 11 Orchestra, comprising students from Bucks and Montgomery counties. Ben Rosser '12 (clarinet) played with the Bucks County Band, Katelyn Richerts '12 (alto) sang in the District Chorus, and the entire Chorale performed at Philadelphia Yearly Meeting's celebration of the 350th anniversary of the Quaker Peace Testimony.

Among George School's exceptional visual artists, twelve woodworking and furniture design students exhibited pieces at the 17th Annual Philadelphia Invitational Furniture Show. Four students exhibited at the Phillips' Mill Photography Exhibition in New Hope, Pennsylvania, including Maria D'Amico '11, who received a Judges Award in the high school section, and Caleb Savage '11, whose photos were chosen for the professional section.

CALEB SAVAGE '11

Students produced the Opus yearbook and monthly Curious George newspaper, which won Gold Medalist standing from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the Deserving Design award from JS Printing for use of color and layout in newsprint publications.

Three films by George School video production students were finalists in the Bridge Film Festival, and Emily Honer '11 won the Judges Choice Award for Best Public Service Announcement for Blink.

In addition, student works in ceramics, sculpture, painting and drawing, and photography were exhibited in the Bucks County Community College High School Art Exhibition.

ATHLETICS

It was a good year for the athletic program. Two varsity teams, girls' track and coed golf, won the Friends School League (FSL) championships, going undefeated during the season. For girls' track, it was the second championship in a row. For golf, it was a three-peat. Boys' tennis and girls' soccer teams were FSL finalists, boys' soccer and wrestling reached the semifinals, and girls' cross-country and girls' swimming earned third-place honors. The future looks bright, too, as two JV teams, boys' baseball and girls' soccer, won their respective league tournaments.

Seniors continuing their athletic careers in college include Kellie Edelblut '11, who will 01: Jeremy Tyson '12 rushed for additional yards against Emily Fisher Charter School.

02: Tommy Lodge-Yanez '12 pinned his Germantown Friends School foe. The GS varsity wrestling team won the match 38-35 and advanced to the Friends Schools League playoffs.

03: Michelle Burger '13 on Tuffy jumped the ramped oxer.

04: Forward Willa Rowan '11 proved to be a strong force against Germantown Friends School.

05: Grant Loescher '14 swam the 200 freestyle. He won his first Friends Schools League (FSL) swimming title 2010-2011 for the 100-yard backstroke.

play golf at the College of William and Mary; Nick Weiler '11, who will play ice hockey at Northeastern University; and Jason Sisti '11, who will play tennis at St. Joseph's University, all NCAA Division I programs.

In addition, two student-athletes, Kellie Edelblut '11 and Rex Roskos '11, were named Bucks County Scholar-Athletes by the Bucks County Courier Times, and four were named to the National Field Hockey Coaches Association National High School Academic Squad.

Unfortunately, in the last few games of the season George School lost the Patterson Cup, more affectionately known as the Moose, to Westtown but we are optimistic that it will be reclaimed in 2011-2012.

COLLEGE GUIDANCE

CLASS OF 2011

JACQUELINE JONES '13

Approximately 99 percent of the Class of 2011 plan to go onto college next year, while some plan to take a gap year before moving on to higher education.

The 135 members of the Class of 2011 will attend eighty-nine institutions in twenty-four states and two foreign countries.

The greatest number of our graduates (32) will attend college in Pennsylvania; in second and third places are New York (19) and Massachusetts (18). Surprisingly, the fourth most popular state this year is California, where thirteen students are bound (up from only three or four students in most years).

George School seniors continue to be drawn to medium and large sized urban campuses. This year's most popular final choice is New York University, which seven students will attend (this is a near-record for students headed to the same college in a single year). Six will attend Boston University, four will attend Temple University, and three will attend each of the following: Guilford College, Northeastern University, the University of Chicago, the University of Pittsburgh, and the University of Southern California. Two of this year's graduates will defer college entrance until the fall of 2012.

We see a gradual decline in the number of students choosing to attend small liberal arts colleges, and an increase in the number of students who enter college committed to a specific major or field.

Nearly a quarter of the class (34 students) will attend state/state-related universities, slightly more than last year. Students accepted to the most selective and elite private colleges still find these schools well able to meet their financial need.

Seniors submitted an average of 9.4 applications each—slightly more than last year's class, but in line with the average over the past ten years. When the dust settled, the class as a whole had submitted 1,277 applications to 328 institutions. Of these applications, 592 (slightly under half) resulted in acceptances, 125 resulted in wait list offers, and 376 resulted in denials. The rest of the applications were ultimately withdrawn or incomplete.

Nearly a third of the seniors (42) filed binding Early Decision applications. This number was consistent with our pattern in recent years. Of these Early Decision applications, seventeen were successful. Overall we are proud of our students' success and resilience in the application process, their openness to a wide range of colleges in order to make good matches, and the quality and diversity of their final choices.

This year, the College Guidance Office spearheaded an initiative to submit teacher recommendations electronically through Naviance. Teachers gamely embraced this move and weathered some initial glitches. This initiative was part of the College Guidance Office's overall transition to submitting applicants' transcripts and credentials electronically.

The counselors were further challenged by the decision of almost every senior to submit at least one application by November 1, fueled in part by many universities' move to offer "priority" or "early action" deadlines. All indications are that this trend will continue and will necessitate that counselors and teachers write most recommendation letters by late October.

In the summer of 2010, Nancy Culleton joined Nancy Starmer and Joanna Storrar on an outreach trip to Korea, Taiwan, and China, to connect with families about the college planning process and gain insight about their needs and expectations. During the fall, College Guidance hosted over eighty college representatives who came to meet with our students. We offered a college essay-writing workshop and provided an SAT "tricks and tips" workshop for juniors. Going forward we hope to integrate offerings such as these into a more intentional program of seminars and workshops.

As always, we are deeply grateful to the many George School faculty members, including advisors and coaches, who have supported the seniors and written letters of recommendation for seniors, helped them with essays, and counseled them behind the scenes. The College Guidance staff is privileged to be part of this team effort.

STUDENT LIFE

HIGHLIGHTS FOR
2010-2011

CHARLES SHOEMAKER '12

Gabi Levi '12, Anthony Verleysen '12, and Neil Chakravarty '12 discussed plans for the weekend.

The Student Activities Board serves as a resource for students and community members about activities and events in and around campus. Members of the 2010-2011 Board included Chandler Rex '13, Dan Simon '13, Trevor Centenno Hall '12, Joey Mannarino '12, Alyssa Garcia '12, Mallory Garcia '11, Chloe Sonnenfeld '11, Myra Jacobs '11, Atenna Sheibani-Nejad '11, Sean Potter '12, Serena Sang '11, and Joyce Cheng '11. They did an amazing job creating and running each and every weekend during the 2010-2011 school year. Their energy and enthusiasm helped make the weekends fun and smooth running. The following are some of the highlights from the 2010-2011 school year.

Arts Weekend. This September weekend featured a trip to New York City for IB Arts and other interested students. They spent the day exploring the city's museums and learning about art history.

Day Prefects Weekend. This was a new weekend planned by the day prefects. New students had the opportunity to meet one another and the day student prefects. The first dance of the year was held on this weekend.

Harvest Weekend. This weekend at the end of October is a highly-anticipated event for all. Along with the usual hay rides, pumpkin carving contest, apple peeling for apple butter making, and apple press for cider making, this year there was a square dance on Red Square, complete with a caller and live band. Lights were hung from the trees and hay bales decorated the square.

Halloween Weekend. The Student Activities Board created a haunted house in a campus building that was soon to undergo renovations, which added to the horrific ambience. Admission to the haunted house required canned food or a cash donation for the Pennel Food Pantry.

Interfaith Weekend. Previously designated as Young Friends Weekend, this event was expanded this year to celebrate a myriad of faiths. The Young Friends hosted a number of workshops that gave students and adults opportunities to share information in a low-key format.

The Zealots—seniors Sam Popkin, Jacob Folk, and Lucas Hamren—performed for the Goldfish 'n Java Jam on Drayton Weekend.

AUTUMN ATKINSON '13

Environmental Awareness Weekend. Two student clubs sponsored events this weekend. TERRA led students in planting trees on campus, creating a rain garden, and cleaning up trash alongside Route 413. The Outdoor Club took several vanloads of students on a day-long hike.

Easter Weekend. At the rise of meeting for worship, students were greeted by the Easter Bunny who directed them to begin their Easter egg hunt. Students who found eggs hidden on the path from the meetinghouse to Main, found candy and gift cards to Starbucks, iTunes, and Target inside.

Sibling Weekend. This year, Sibling Weekend coincided with the Dance Eclectic performance but that still left the time for students and their brothers and sisters to enjoy face painting, carnival rides, a bouncy house, cotton candy, snow cone making, and popcorn eating.

Student Council Weekend. Student Council continued their tradition of sending students for a day at Dorney Park, in Allentown Pennsylvania, for only a $5 admission. The weekend ended with a pool party and dunk tank where money was raised for Japan Relief.

Student Activities Weekend. The Student Activities Board sponsored the final big weekend of the year to create Georgetstock with the Goldfish 'n Java club. Students listened to music from student bands at the bottom of South Lawn. On Red Square they enjoyed carnival rides, cotton candy, snow cones, and popcorn on Red Square.

The diversity of the George School students was celebrated on special weekends such as those sponsored by PRO (Pacific Rim Organization) and UMOJA. On both weekends, students and parents helped to prepare food central to their culture to share with the community.

The parents of George School students continue to be a huge help to the weekend activities as well as to the daily life of students. They baked cookies for the cookie drop which happens on the last day before end-of-term exams. They also shared wonderful desserts and delicacies for the annual Winter Formal. And weekends would not be weekends without day-student parents driving their children back and forth to campus so that they can participate in the weekend activities.

SUSTAINABILITY

CARING FOR THE EARTH

AUTUMN ATKINSON '13

George School's Environmental Stewardship Steering Committee (ESSC) continued to refine its role as an environmental oversight committee operating on behalf of the George School Committee (GSC). The committee worked to find a balance between discussions of systemic oversight and individual accountability. As part of its attempt to broaden its reach, the committee added members from different campus groups to maintain a pulse on the environmental activities of both the institution and the community. Committee members include representatives from students, parents, faculty, the Business Office, Food Service, Physical Plant, Strategic Planning Oversight Committee (SPOC), and GSC.

TERRA PROVIDES STUDENT LEADERSHIP

TERRA, the George School chapter of the Sierra Student Coalition that works to educate the greater community about environmental issues and to implement solutions through direct and indirect action, had a strong year.

TERRA created Energy Agents, a new student volunteer position that empowered individual students within the George School community to take a leadership role in environmental sustainability while also representing their fellow students on TERRA. The group spearheaded a number of projects and activities including:

- The installation of new rain gardens in several places throughout the north woods to reduce the erosion that occurs from water runoff during rain storms.
- The annual Newtown Creek clean-up to help keep our campus beautiful.
- Nature hikes to restore/maintain our communion with nature.
- Green Cup Challenge participation.

GREEN CUP CHALLENGE

With TERRA's help, George School instituted a number of school-wide best practices to conserve energy during the Green Cup Challenge while increasing awareness after the challenge was over. Special programs included:

- Dining in the Dark. The Food Service staff prepared and served community meals without use of electricity.
- Unplug. TERRA members encouraged students to unplug electronic items when not in use.
- Turn Off. TERRA posted reminders in dorms and classrooms to encourage people to turn off the lights and encouraged faculty to teach without lights when possible.
- Share the News. TERRA members posted creative news items about conserving resources.

METERS TRACK ELECTRIC USAGE

Meters were installed on all dorms (except Brown House) and the community began to get a better idea about where energy-saving opportunities might be. The meter-reading information prompted heated discussions on community boards and in offices and classrooms throughout the community. The resulting awareness of energy use in the dorms was considered a victory by many and a call to action for future years. Additional meters are being considered in various departments throughout the community to continue the momentum of this worthwhile project.

FOCUS ON FARM-TO-SCHOOL FOOD

- The kitchen continues to get more than 50 percent of its food from local farms and cooperatives, including our organic garden.
- The garden produced 250 pounds of tomatoes as well as a stunning assortment of herbs for use in the dining hall. The garden also produced lettuce, cucumbers, squash, strawberries and other seasonal favorites.
- The community garden continues to grow (literally and figuratively) and to expand significantly.

01: Martin Yamane '12 and Tucker Bentley '12 prepared carrots from the organic garden for the salad bar, capturing the peelings in the red compost container.

02: Members of TERRA, a student interest group committed to educating the greater community about environmental issues and implementing solutions through direct and indirect action, participated in many activities during Environmental Awareness Weekend.

BRUCE WELER

AUTUMN ATKINSON '13

OTHER SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVES

- Composting. The dining hall composts all of its napkins and food waste. The compost is now being used to enrich the soil of the school's own garden and of the community garden plots. This year the dining hall addressed the problem of paper plates being thrown into the composting bin (they are not compostable) by eliminating them completely on pizza days.
- Recycling. The school continues to recycle paper, cardboard, plastic, and glass. This year an effort was made to re-evaluate where bins should be placed in the community to increase participation. As a result a number of new recycling containers were distributed throughout the community.

- Learning and Sharing. George School continued its participation in OASIS (Organizing Action on Sustainability in Schools), a non-profit consortium of seventeen Princeton-area independent and public schools. Members of the committee attended regular meetings of OASIS where discussions were held regarding environmental sustainability challenges facing schools today.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

HIGHLIGHTS FOR
2010-2011

BOB KRIST

Construction began at the end of spring term to replace our football field and existing track with a new, state-of-the-art, all-weather track and synthetic turf field.

The 2010-2011 academic year was a notable year for physical plant upgrades.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

As part of our strategic plan to improve our facilities, an Athletic Facility Committee was formed to evaluate and recommend improvements to our existing athletic buildings and grounds. An architectural firm was hired to begin work on schematic designs for a new facility which will include a health and fitness center for the whole community.

NEW ALL-WEATHER TRACK AND SYNTHETIC TURF

Construction began at the end of the spring season to replace our football field and existing track—originally built in 1902—with a new, state-of-the-art, all-weather track and synthetic turf field. Telephone, fiber optic, and communication lines were relocated and ecoboxes for storm water management were installed underneath the field to improve drainage. The new field will support football, field hockey, soccer, and lacrosse teams as well as activities planned by various school clubs and summer camps.

EQUESTRIAN EDUCATION CENTER

Two riding rings were resurfaced and outdoor lighting was installed at George School's Equestrian Education Center in 2009-2010. Over the summer of 2011, the tack room was substantially renovated to include newly designed locker rooms for both boys and girls. Racks for the center's saddles line the north wall. Bridle hooks are organized on the east wall and in the middle of the tack room is a large island that has a number of custom-designed racks, rolling bins, and drawers to store blankets, saddle pads, leg wraps, and other items.

MCFEELY HISTORY BUILDING

The former McFeely Library was fully renovated to accommodate the George School History Department. The project included the construction of seven academic classrooms, an office area, conference room, and commons. With the History Department's move to McFeely, additional instructional space was created for English and English as a Second Language (ESL) classrooms.

McFeely retains its original footprint and is now air conditioned. Eight skylights were added to provide substantial natural lighting to all rooms. The entire building envelope was insulated using state-of-the-art materials to enhance energy efficiency. High efficiency windows, occupancy light sensors, recycled building materials, a light well, heating connection to the central boiler plant, and water-saving fixtures were installed as part of the sustainability initiatives throughout campus. The entire building is now American Disabilities Act compliant.

MARSHALL CENTER

Marshall Center—the student activities center and home to the day student lockers, bookstore, snack bar, post office, and the Deans' Office—was similarly renovated with improved functionality and environmental sensitivity in mind. The school improved the building's structure, expanded the bookstore, renovated the snack bar, replaced the lockers and flooring, and installed more efficient lighting and HVAC, all while using and reusing eco-friendly materials.

OTHER CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

- A new environmentally conscious thermoplastic olefin (TPO) roof and insulation were installed at the Hallowell Arts Center, which houses the ceramics, photography, and woodworking programs.
 - Every window in Bancroft, home to English and language classrooms, was totally refurbished and reinsulated.
 - Main, Orton, the meetinghouse, and many other buildings were painted and repointed.
 - The exterior dormers on Main and Orton were repaired.
 - A new steam-to-hot water converter was installed in Drayton so that the building now has its own hot water supply, a sustainable upgrade.
 - The Westwood heating system was converted from steam to hot water heat.
 - An outdoor wood-burning pizza oven was built adjacent to the school's organic garden.
 - The tennis courts on Farm Drive were resurfaced.
 - Eyeline House and Tate House were fully renovated.
 - Improvements were made to staff housing throughout campus.
 - Pedestrian crosswalks, roads, and walking paths were improved throughout campus.

STRATEGIC PLAN

MOVING FORWARD

In January 2009, George School approved an all-encompassing strategic plan to chart our future for the next five years. Just two years later, in January 2011, Gretchen Castle, chair of the Strategic Plan Oversight Committee noted, “We were astonished at how quickly the plan is being implemented with high engagement across the community.”

The school’s impressive momentum in moving forward on important goals can be seen in the highlights below in each of the five strategic areas—academics, diversity, environmental stewardship, facilities, financial aid, and financial sustainability.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM GOAL

Ensure that we provide a transformative educational experience that is deeply grounded in Friends values by continuously reviewing and improving our academic curriculum and pedagogy, our community life and service programs, and the mechanisms by which we attract and retain a high caliber of students, faculty and staff.

- In 2011, the George School Committee committed $15 million from a bequest of Barbara Dodd Anderson into an endowment fund for faculty staff compensation. The Total Compensation Committee is working to identify uses of these funds that will be sustainable over time, ensure that we can continue to attract and retain the highest caliber of faculty and staff, and that will be fair and equitable.
- To increase the scope and reach of our service programs, new local service programs were instituted in school year 2010-2011. The school also received a leadership grant from the EE Ford Foundation to help fund a Global Service Program, which is now completing its third summer.

DIVERSITY GOAL

Enhance our distinction as an inclusive educational community by challenging ourselves to address difficult questions raised by diversity in all its dimensions.

- The school began a process to reexamine our definition of diversity, both to reflect the world of today and to ensure its alignment with the school’s mission and curricular objectives. The first step involved reaching out to parents, students, faculty, staff, and graduates in a survey developed by the Diversity Oversight Committee in order to collect impressions, hopes, and definitions of diversity. Their initial findings were presented to the GSC and the faculty, emphasizing the concept of inclusivity rather than diversity.
- The school is also focusing on our goal of improving our practices school-wide from the perspective of the diversity of students and families of George School. We have made changes to our admission process in response to recommendations from current international George School parents such as holding in-person admission candidate interviews in Korea, Taiwan, and China.

ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDSHIP GOAL

Recognize the pressing need for all human beings to live simpler, more sustainable lives by visibly integrating environmental stewardship into the day-to-day activities of students, faculty and staff, and into our planning for the school.

- The integration of environmental sustainability goals into facilities planning was quickly accomplished and is now part of the Physical Plant Department’s regular practice. Every decision and purchase is carefully weighed in relation to awareness of the ultimate effect on the environment.
- Individual meters were placed in all dormitories to monitor energy use and Student Energy Agents were appointed to focus on reducing energy consumption in dormitories and other campus buildings such as the student center. The students have been building rain gardens, constructing a bee colony, and tending the Anderson Library’s green roof.

JACK STARMER

Students enjoyed the first picnic dinner in the organic garden and sent a special thank you to Food Service Director Joe Ducati, ceramics teacher Amedeo Salamoni, and George School's CulinArt Food Service staff.

FACILITIES GOAL

Improve our facilities to provide the best physical tools to advance student learning and to meet the needs of our teachers, while maintaining the pristine beauty of our campus.

- The Physical Plant staff updated and integrated our multiple campus master plans into a single document and prioritized facility needs and defined needed improvement to our academic, arts, and athletic facilities.
- The school received Gold LEEDS certification for the new Anderson Library and transformed McFeely, our old library, into a state-of-art academic building with seven high-tech air-conditioned classrooms for the History Department.
- The Finance and Investment Committee is currently studying the financial needs and capabilities of updating and enhancing our athletic facilities, our greatest priority.

FINANCIAL AID GOAL

Demonstrate continued leadership in financial aid in the context of a changing economic environment for independent schools.

- To ensure George School's continued distinction in financial aid, additional funds were added to the financial aid budget each of the last two years, and are planned for each of the next two. These efforts are designed to help address needs related to the recent economic downturn.
- In early 2012 George School will undertake a rigorous study of current practices and explore new methods for making a George School education more affordable to economically diverse families.

FINANCIAL SUSTAINABILITY GOAL

Create new processes for fundraising and financial planning that will ensure that we can support our strategic objectives for the long term benefit of George School.

- The Finance and Investment Committee, a standing committee of GSC, is vigilant in identifying the operational, capital, and endowment needs that are required to implement our Strategic Plan.
- In order to engage a broader group of alumni, parents, and friends of the school, the school created a Development Advisory Committee to help define priorities and processes needed to obtain resources and to reach out to others to help George School reach a new level of distinction and leadership.
- The school retained a consulting firm to help determine the likelihood of raising funds for a multi-million dollar investment in athletics and the readiness of the administration to launch such a campaign among all constituencies. In response, Head of School Nancy Starmer shifted responsibilities of some senior administrators to make it possible for her to spend up to a third of her time focusing on an upcoming athletics campaign endeavor. The George School Committee directed one-half of the bequest from Barbara Dodd Anderson toward athletics, making a significant impact on the timing of the project.

ADVANCEMENT

CONNECTING OUR COMMUNITY

The lifelong connections that are made at George School are celebrated every day. Through our website, electronic and print publications, world-wide events, and volunteer opportunities we have the ongoing opportunity to link students, alumni, parents, grandparents, faculty and friends with all that is uniquely George School.

GEORGE SCHOOL HISTORY SHARED ONLINE

The George School Our History website was launched in the 2010-2011 academic year with more than five-hundred historical photographs and fifty pages of facts organized in a timeline format. As the home page declares, “They say that history repeats itself, and with all the amazing people who have lived and learned at George School, that is not such a bad thing.” Many of the facts that were in the new history site were compiled by an amazing alumnus and historian, the late Kingdon Swayne ’37, who wrote the George School history published for the centennial celebration in 1993. More recent facts were collected by Sarah Dayton ’05.

EXPANDED NEWS COVERAGE

The George School website overall is a remarkable vehicle for sharing the current state of the school, particularly the details and images of everyday life on campus. In the 2010-2011 school year, 293 news articles, averaging 5.6 per week were added to News & Events. Slideshows and videos were added to news articles, art galleries, service trip reports, and athletic team pages.

CAMPUS LIFE HIGHLIGHTED

Our Week in Pictures, a crowd-sourced weekly photo newsletter, helps current parents catch a glimpse of their child’s week on campus, encourages prospective students to imagine life at George School, and reconnects alumni with favorite memories and old friends. This past school year, students, parents, faculty, staff, and alumni submitted twenty-thousand photos for consideration. Fifteen hundred photos were posted and captioned to explain the variety and vitality of the George School experience for students. Overall, the photo newsletter showcased five-hundred members of the community, and published the work of almost fifty photographers.

ALUMNI FEATURED IN PRINT

Since December 2006 the Georgian has featured alumni in the “Perspectives” section of each issue of the Georgian. The 2010-2011 winter and spring issues featured a total of ninety-four alumni in “Perspectives” and more than 470 alumni submission were published in the Alumni Tell Us section, representing more than sixty-five classes.

TWENTY YEARS OF LEADERSHIP CELEBRATED

Over seventy George School Committee (GSC) members and their guests attended a reunion event on Friday evening, April 8, 2011, to celebrate twenty years of remarkable achievements at George School. The event to honor former members of the GSC was hosted by former committee clerk John Hunt, outgoing clerk David Bruton ’53, incoming clerk Richard Segel, and Head of School Nancy Starmer. All four hosts spoke about the memorable events during their tenure on the school’s governing board. Nancy Starmer thanked board members in the audience for their strategic thinking and good planning and emphasized that the school’s extraordinary success today is based on the good decisions they made in the past.

ALUMNI PRESENTED WORKSHOPS

During Alumni Weekend, May 13 to 15, 2011, six alumni authors from the Class of 1971 shared their individual perspectives on coming of age during a watershed era—the Vietnam war, the Black Power movement, the sexual revolution, second-wave feminism, and more. The authors’ roundtable included Patricia Appelbaum, Jaki Vincent Shelton Green, Stephanie Hollyman, Jody Lisberger, Bill Orme, and Beth Taylor. Alumni awardees each presented a workshop on the morning of Alumni Day. Mack Lipkin ’61, a world leader in the field of medical interviews and related skills, spoke about caring, communications, and modern medicine. Sheena Wright ’86, president and CEO of the Harlem-based Abyssinian Development Corporation, shared lessons drawn from her nine years spent developing Harlem's community and economy.

PARENTS ORGANIZED CAREER WORKSHOPS

In early May, all George School students attended a career workshop of their choice. Clerked by parent John Harkins, Career Workshops Committee members recruited people to share their insight about their careers. Parent speakers were Judi Buch, Gary Fassler, and David Graham. Alumni speakers were Kareem Afzal '93, Ted Colegrove '03, Pamela Dalton '72, Art Henrie '47, Shari Rosenbloom '80, and Emma Weisser '05.

ATHLETES MARKED A MILESTONE AT LAST LAP

On Saturday afternoon, May 14, 2011, hundreds of alumni, parents, and students attended a special farewell event to take a last lap on the 1903 track that hosted a century of races and track and field events. Athletes and coaches—of the track and field, cross country, field hockey, football, lacrosse, and cheerleading teams—were recognized and their achievements were highlighted. Athletic directors and longtime coaches such as Dave Satterthwaite, Anne LeDuc, John Gleeson, and Bob Geissinger joined others in breaking ground for the new track and field.

ALUMNI ATTENDED A HISTORY CLASS

As part of the Alumni Day celebration, two dozen alumni and parents joined John Davison's history class on the Eisenhower years as seen through the eyes of Cartoonist Herb Block. It was a chance to witness the teaching style of the longtime teacher noted for bringing the unexpected into the classroom such as famous historical figures dressed in period attire.

JOHN STREETZ SPOKE AT MCFEELY DEDICATION

To celebrate the renovation of the former McFeely Library into the home of the History Department, John Streetz—former science teacher, coach, and administrator from 1950 to 1964—spoke about his colleague, Dick McFeely who was head of school from 1948 to 1967. Seventy-five people—including Dick McFeely's daughter Marj Burton, her husband Ken, and several other family members and friends—joined alumni and parents to celebrate the rededication of the building that honors a man remembered for his joy of life, devotion to family, love of sports, and warmth of spirit.

GEORGE SCHOOL MET WITH FAMILIES IN ASIA

Associate Head of School Scott Spence and Director of Institutional Advancement Ari Betof '98 traveled to Asia in June 2011 to meet with George School parents, students, prospective families, and alumni. At well-attended meetings, Scott and Ari shared news about George School and participated in a lively question and answer period that followed each presentation. The trip included stops in Seoul, Beijing, Shanghai, Shenzhen, Hong Kong, and Taipei.

PARENT VOLUNTEERS ADDED VITALITY

Parents from around the globe supported the life of the school by taking on volunteer roles such as sending welcoming emails to incoming families in advance of their arrival on campus to sponsoring an appreciation luncheon for faculty and staff. In the past academic year, over one hundred mothers and fathers volunteered to help out on one or more of the twenty-two parent-run committees of the Parents Association. Parents in Asia are also reaching out to others by volunteering for the efforts of the Korean Parents Association, the Taiwan Parents Association, and the China Parents Association.

ENDOWMENT

PROVIDING LONG-TERM
FINANCIAL STABILITY

A strong endowment is crucial to George School. It provides the capacity to meet our core commitments and helps us maintain our leadership role in areas that are important to Quakers and our community at George School, such as financial aid and environmental sustainability. It also provides the long-term financial stability that allows the school to weather periods of economic turbulence.

As of June 30 2011, the George School endowment had a market value of $91.5 million compared to $65.6 million the previous year. The increase represents a $15.1 million planned gift from the estate of Barbara Dodd Anderson '50 and a $10.8 million capital increase. Our return over the past ten years is 4.5 percent against a comparable 4.3 percent return on our benchmark index, a similar asset class fund against which we measure performance.

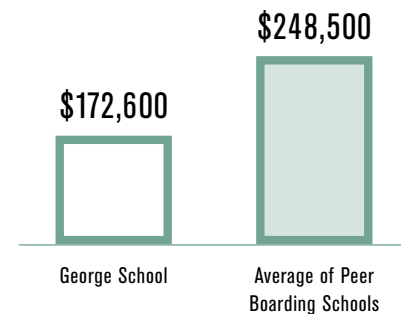

George School's endowment is conservatively invested in 65 percent equities and 35 percent bonds and makes investments in line with a socially responsible investment policy. Planned spending for the endowment is the second largest source of operating revenue, behind tuition, providing 9.9 percent of the school's total budgeted revenue.

Our endowment consists of more than 280 discrete funds established over the past 128 years by individual donors, foundations, and reunion classes. Approximately 56 percent of George School's endowment is restricted to financial aid, scholarships, and tuition remission. Another 24 percent has been earmarked by the donors to support faculty programs and salaries.

George School's endowment per student is approximately $172,600, considerably less than the average endowment per student of our peer boarding schools which is $248,500.

This means that George School's endowment provides just over $8,600 annually per student for our educational program. This is considerably less than the almost $12,500 provided annually per student by the average endowment of our peer schools for their educational program.

ENDOWMENT FUNDS PER STUDENT

In a different comparison, Boarding School Review identifies twenty-three schools that have per student endowments that range between $300,000 and $599,999. An additional seven boarding schools have per student endowments of more than $600,000.

Your gifts to endowment help keep George School in the forefront of independent education—providing students with the spiritual, intellectual, and personal resources to make a difference in the real world.

Note: George School uses the 60%S&P500/40%BarclaysAggregate Index as a benchmark standard against which the performance of our funds is measured.

DEVELOPMENT

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT

The ongoing support of our donors allows George School to continue forging the connections that join and strengthen our community. Without the inspiring generosity of all who support George School through many different avenues of giving, the relationships that make this community so extraordinary would not be possible. The generosity of so many ensures that these connections will continue to grow for many years to come.

- The Annual Fund surpassed its $1,150,000 goal.

- More than 3,044 alumni, parents, grandparents, and friends of the school made contributions to the Annual Fund.

- George School tuition covers only 74 percent of the cost of educating our students.

- The other 26 percent is contributed by the endowment, income from facilities rental, and Annual Fund gifts.

- With champion fundraiser Burt Ross '61 at the helm, the Class of 1961 broke all records for class reunion giving. In a campaign that was launched a full four years before their fiftieth reunion, fifty members of the Class of 1961 gave more than $572,600 to support George School in many ways including the Class of 1961 scholarship endowment now named for John and Jackie Streetz. See profiles of two members of the class on pages 38 and 43.

- Fundraising for our new track and field took off almost on its own last spring as word spread that we were considering renovations to the 1903 track and football field. Graduates reached out to honor former coaches Anne LeDuc, Bob Geissinger,

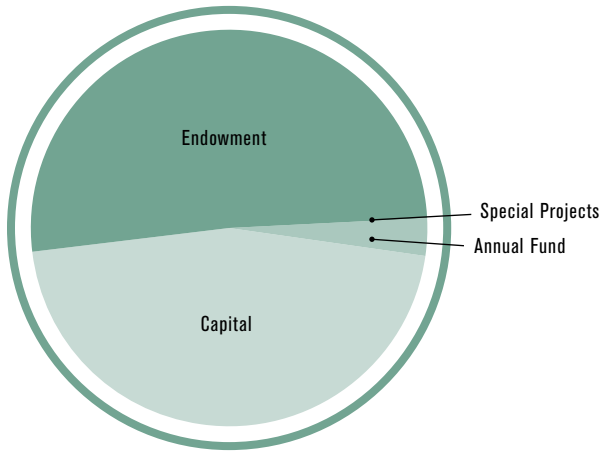

John Gleeson, and Dave Satterthwaite with gifts ranging in size from $25 to $250,000. Events are planned for each of the coaches during the 2011-2012 academic year. Committees will continue to solicit contributions through Alumni Day in May 2012, when we will hold a formal dedication of the field in honor of Anne, Bob, and John and the track in honor of Dave.

- Planned gifts have been extraordinarily important to the school in the 2010-2011 academic year. As the beneficiary of twenty gifts made by will or matured life income gifts, George School received a total of $32,162,552. Of that total, George School received $31,348,350 from the bequest of Barbara Dodd Anderson '50 and a total of $814,202 from others. Planned gifts made by alumni, parents, and friends of the school help ensure the quality of the George School education and experience for future generations.

- Endowment gifts, capital gifts, and special projects totaled $37,967,681. Of that total, over $31 million came from the bequest of Barbara Dodd Anderson '50. In her more than sixty-year relationship with the school, Barbara had made a phenomenal impact on it. Her gifts, personal as well as monetary, have provided endowment funds for scholarship aid and faculty compensation, and funds for building projects such as Main Dormitory and the Mollie Dodd Anderson Library. Barbara hoped that she would become a model for others to follow her philanthropic lead. Her final gift was an extraordinary example of her confidence that the school will use her gifts wisely to ensure the future of an institution she dearly loved.

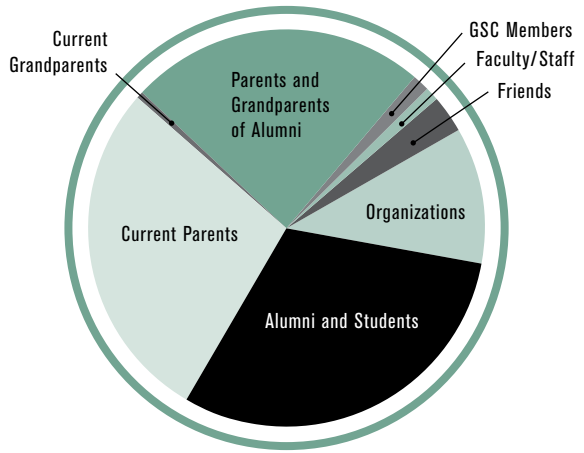

We will continue to need and to seek philanthropic income for all we do—financial aid for our students, salaries and housing for our faculty, construction costs for academic and sports facilities.

THE JOHN M. GEORGE SOCIETY

The John M. George Society recognizes alumni, parents, grandparents, faculty, staff, and friends who include provisions in their wills or estate plans to benefit George School and have informed the school of their generosity.

These provisions include bequest intentions, testamentary trusts, and gifts providing life income (such as charitable remainder trusts, gift annuities, and pooled income fund gifts), life insurance, retirement plan assets, and other deferred gifts.

If you have provided for George School in your will or estate plan and are not listed here, or are interested in learning more about estate-related gifts, please contact Director of Planned Giving Andrew Popkin '83, at 215.579.6563, or andy_popkin@georgeschool.org.

ANNE LEDUC

John M. George Society Member*

You know your gift will be used very well.”

Looking back at your thirty years at George School, how do you think you—and the school—influenced students?

Whether as an advisor, a teacher, a dorm resident, or a coach, I developed—and most George School teachers do in their own way—meaningful relationships with students. You become a family. Working with young people in a team setting, I helped students learn how to work with others, how to deal with disappointment, and how to deal graciously with winning. Because I played sports internationally, I am particularly interested in diversity and wanted my athletes to experience other cultures. Our field hockey team played in Jamaica and Barbados one year and England the next. But it goes beyond racial and cultural diversity. I’m impressed that my athletes were involved in the arts and in outreach. George School prepares young people to both live in and contribute to today’s world.

How did your students and George School influence you?

George School impacted my life as much or more than I impacted my students’ and athletes’ lives. I think I was destined to become a coach of adolescents. I just seemed to be able to relate to that age group. Kids would come flop on my floor and talk, and I came to understand what goes through the minds and emotions of a 13- to 18-year-old girl . . . and some boys, too (my advisees). I really treasure my experience. My relationships with all my students have kept me young at heart.

You’ve helped the school in many ways. Why have you included it in your estate plan?

Though I am interested in a lot of causes, George School is at the top of my list because of what it is providing and will provide for young people in the future. When I’m no longer here, I know the need will be just as great or greater. There’s no better place than George School to leave something that you know will be utilized very well.

A resident of Moorestown, New Jersey, and a graduate of Moorestown Friends School as well as Rollins College and Teachers College Columbia University, Anne served as girls’ athletic director from 1962 to 1993 and coached field hockey, lacrosse, basketball, and swimming. Since retiring, she has volunteered for several George School fundraising campaigns.

* John M. George Society members have included George School in their estate plans and informed the school of their commitment.

GOVERNING BOARD CELEBRATES TWENTY YEARS OF SUCCESS

Over seventy guests attended a reunion event on Friday evening, April 8, 2011, to celebrate twenty years of remarkable achievements at George School. The event to honor former members of the George School Committee (the school's governing board) was hosted by former committee clerk John Hunt, outgoing clerk David Bruton '53, incoming clerk Richard Segel, and Head of School Nancy Starmer.

All four hosts spoke about the memorable events during their tenure on the school's governing board. Nancy Starmer thanked board members in the audience for their strategic thinking and good planning and emphasized that the school's extraordinary success today is based on the good decisions they made in the past.

GIFTS TO ENDOWMENT

A strong endowment is vital to George School. Your gifts to endowment provide the capacity to meet our core commitments and help us maintain our leadership role in areas that are important to Quakers and our community at George School, such as financial aid and environmental sustainability. Endowment Funds also provide the long-term financial stability that allows the school to weather periods of economic turbulence.

Reunion Class Fundraising Committee Member*

“Getting together and giving with my classmates is even more fun and meaningful than making an individual gift.”

Why do you return to George School for reunions?

George School is home to me. It was my childhood playground. I loved all those wonderful faculty members I looked up to as a little guy. Once or twice a year I feel the need to go back to get a little dose of George School. It's in the fabric of who I am. All the Quaker traditions have taken hold. George School is a wonderfully inclusive place with people of all backgrounds and religions. It provides a very strong community experience. That experience and the faculty are as strong as ever.

How were you involved with your 50th reunion?

Thanks to my good buddy Burt Ross '61, the driving force behind the reunion, I took part in both reunion planning and fundraising. We started shortly after our 45th. One of the reasons I got involved is that I just love my class. It's got some fascinating, diverse people, and I love hearing about everybody's life journey. Out of about one hundred, we had more than sixty classmates come, and we had a great time. We made a huge effort to get people to come back who hadn't before.

How is your class gift important?

Thanks to a couple of big gifts to start, a lot of class participation, and a large bequest from Nancy Ewing Gabel '61, we raised over $572,600—a new record for reunion gifts. Our gifts support George School in many ways including our class's scholarship endowment, which is now named for John and Jackie Streetz. John was our class sponsor for four years. He comes back for our reunions and stays in touch with many members of our class even though he lives in Oakland, California. The scholarship provides the funds to help a deserving child come to George School. Personally, I feel an obligation to give back to George School since it gave a lot to me.

Jim grew up at George School, where his father taught English, directed plays, coached, and was a dean. After graduating from the University of North Carolina, Jim taught English, coached, and served as athletic director during thirty-four years at Chestnut Hill Academy. Today he spends winters in Pennsylvania and summers in New Hampshire, where he is the director of Camp Tecumseh.

* Reunioning classes typically honor their shared experiences with a special gift to the Annual Fund, but milestone reunions take it one step further. Fiftieth reunion classes, for example, often make capital or endowment gifts, whose impact extends beyond the current year.

GIFTS FROM ALUMNI AND STUDENTS

The generosity of alumni and students bears witness to the care, intellectual challenge, and love they have experienced during their time here, and how that has shaped their lives. It is also a mark of their care for current and future generations of George School students. We are very grateful for their support.

NANCY EWING GABEL '61

John M. George Society Member*

Nancy inspired classmates to keep in touch with each other and George School. Now she inspires others to follow her lead in putting George School in their estate plans.

To her classmates, Nancy was a friendly voice reminding them to share their news or rallying them for the next reunion. To coworkers, she was a world traveler who enjoyed telling tales from her many cruises. To George School, Nancy was a longtime friend, whose generosity (she named the school as a beneficiary of her estate) will enrich the lives of students for years to come.

A member of Greenwich Friends Meeting in Greenwich, New Jersey, Nancy was also a member of George School's Sticky Bun and John M. George societies, reflecting her long history of giving to the school. In making her bequest an unrestricted gift, she trusted George School to use it in the most beneficial way. Head of School Nancy Starmer describes the estate gift as "a very kind and meaningful way to honor the importance George School played in her life."

As the class of 1961's correspondent, Nancy Ewing Gabel was "always urging us to write class notes so we could find out about one another," says classmate Jim Talbot. "She was like a church. She never gave up on you."

In October 2009, Nancy wrote to her class, "Once again I want all our classmates to mark their calendars for Mother's Day weekend in May of 2011 for our amazing 50th reunion." As Jim describes, she "put the word out that it didn't matter if you were fat or thin, rich or poor, and she set up a fund to help people come back." Unfortunately, she did not live to enjoy the reunion, but a large number of her classmates attended. The $572,630 raised, which includes Nancy's legacy gift, set a new record for class gifts at George School.

Nancy named George School as a beneficiary of her estate. If you want to learn more about making a bequest to George School or how you can give without affecting your income during your lifetime, contact Director of Planned Giving Andrew Popkin at 215.579.6563 or visit our website for more details.

* John M. George Society members have included George School in their estate plans and informed the school of their commitment.

TONY JACKSON '71 AND MARIE HOOPER JACKSON '73

Sticky Bun Society Members*

“At George School I benefited from a consistently nurturing environment, so I want to be consistent in giving to George School.”

How did you two meet?

Tony: Marie and I were not at George School at the same time. Instead we met in college when she came to Smith. I was already at Amherst when a classmate, Clifton Coleman, told me about her. There is a bond that all George School folks have. When I heard that she had attended George School, I knew she had to be special.

How did George School influence you?

Marie: Each of us had a unique experience. For me, meeting people from all over the world had a profound impact. I'm an OB/GYN who has always worked in rural areas, trying to increase access to care for women who wouldn't otherwise have it and to better their lives through education. I am very thankful to have gone to such a wonderful school with great academics that enabled me to go to a top-tier college and pursue my career.

Tony: George School started me off with a bang and gave me confidence. I got a sense that the world was my oyster and, that if I lived a life of service, I would be rewarded. For me, George School affirmed the power of belief in possibilities.

Marie: We brought our daughter, Lauren '03, with us every time we came back to campus. We impressed her so much with our interest in George School that she wanted to be a part of it as well. I was thrilled that she developed a love of languages while at George School and that her experiences on a very special service trip to Nicaragua impacted our whole family.

Why do you give every year?

Tony: The school gave me so much in two years that it is impossible for me to ever repay it. At George School I benefited from a consistently nurturing environment, so I want to be consistent in giving to George School. I would encourage all of my classmates and fellow alumni to become members of the Sticky Bun Society, whatever the amount.

After college, the Jacksons attended the University of Pennsylvania. Marie attended medical school and Tony attended graduate school in city planning, followed later by law school at the University of Richmond. The couple leads a multistate lifestyle, splitting their time between Farmville, Virginia; Chambersburg, Pennsylvania; and Cumberland, Maryland. Tony has a general law practice and Marie is an OB/GYN.

* Sticky Bun Society members have made gifts to the Annual Fund since graduating or for ten or more consecutive years. Recognizing individuals who "stick" with George School, the society takes its name from the school's longtime breakfast treat. Tony finds the name particularly appropriate, as he fondly remembers both the tradition and the "consistent goodness of the buns."

TIM O'NEILL '99

Loyalty Challenge Donor*

"I take great pride in beating Westtown for the Machermer Cup... I give to the Annual Fund every year because George School was such an important factor in who I am."

Why are you fond of George School?

I was the third O'Neill son to graduate. Like my brothers before me, I benefited from all the weekend activities, even though I was a day student. Once in my sophomore year when I was signing in for yet another overnight stay in Orton, my file was dropped in the Deans' Office. There was a veritable flurry of previous overnight cards, and I realized that I was spending a lot of time at school.

When my brother Chuck '94 died in spring 2001, it was natural for us to have the memorial at the George School Meetinghouse, considering how special the school had been to him and to all of us. Many who attended were moved to give to a fund in his memory, which pays for an annual music assembly. Living nearby, I'm able to attend and even introduce these assemblies, and current students often go out of their way to tell me it is a highlight of their year.

How did George School influence your choice of career?

My love of languages certainly comes in a large part from French classes with Debbie DiMicco and Claudie Fischer. I took French for all four years, which prepared me well for the French major I went on to pursue. The trip to Alsace junior year also influenced me, and when I studied in Strasbourg for a fall semester in college, I saw my homestay family from the George School trip several times. The second part of the year I studied in Madagascar, and although I was there to study environmental science, I became more interested in the interplay between the colonial French and native Malagasy languages.

Why do you enjoy taking part in the Loyalty Challenge by giving to the Annual Fund?

I take great pride in beating Westtown for the Machermer Cup. For two years, I worked with fellow grads Dave Durant '99 and Aja Bryant '00 at an outdoor education center, and one of our coworkers was a Westtown grad. Dave's spirit of competition drove him to donate for the first time during those years, perhaps so he could tell this coworker that we had beaten his school! I give to the Annual Fund every year because George School was such an important factor in who I am.

A graduate of Bates College, Tim is pursuing a Ph.D. in linguistics at the University of Delaware and working as a linguist/teaching assistant. He married wife KellyAnn in summer 2011 in a croquet-themed wedding, and they are bringing a croquet set with them for five months in Madagascar, where Tim is researching an almost-unstudied dialect of Malagasy, spoken on the east coast of the island.

* The Loyalty Challenge is modeled after the annual George School-Westtown athletic rivalry known as the Patterson Cup or "The Moose." The challenge is an annual-giving participation competition between recent graduating classes of the two schools. This competition was the brainchild of faculty members Paul (GS '65) and Pam (Westtown '64) Machermer, and the winning school receives the coveted Machermer Cup for the year.

❖ JOHN M. GEORGE SOCIETY

MYRA JACOBS '11

Student Annual Fund Committee Member*

"I like giving back because I really love George School. I want to help give that experience to other kids who can't afford it."

What do you value about your George School education?

Everything. I would not be where I am today—with an IB diploma and a scholarship that will pay for college—without George School. I was really shy and George School helped me grow up, figure out what I want to do, be confident, speak out, and become myself. It really prepared me for college. History classes provided so many different perspectives. Language classes helped me become almost fluent in Spanish. And all the writing we did in English classes definitely taught me to write. I'm so happy I had a chance to go there.

Did you enjoy making calls for the Annual Fund Phonathon?

I like explaining to people how their contributions support students like me, because I couldn't have gone to George School without aid provided by the Annual Fund. I've had great, long conversations with alumni from different generations. You hear a lot of stories and get different perspectives on the same place. In a lot of cases, our experiences were similar. Even when they were different, I always found something we had in common, so I always felt a connection with the alumni I talked to.

Why do you give to the Annual Fund?

I was able to go to George School because of the Annual Fund, so I feel it's really important to contribute to it. I like giving back because I really love George School. I want to help give that experience to other kids who can't afford it. Even though I can't contribute much now, I hope to give more in the future.

Originally from St. Vincent but now living in Vermont, Myra was a dorm prefect and a member of the Student Activities Board, Student Annual Fund Committee, and SAGE, all while working towards her IB diploma. In 2011, she was named a Gates Millennium Scholar for her academic achievement, community service, and leadership potential and will use her scholarship towards her education at Connecticut College.

* Having worked to raise funds for and awareness of the Annual Fund during her four years at George School, Myra understands that giving whatever you can afford—even as a student—shows that you value your George School experience and helps the school garner contributions from foundations and other donors.

GIFTS FROM PARENTS AND GRANDPARENTS

Gifts from parents and grandparents of students and alumni play a special role in the lives of their children. Because tuition covers approximately 74 percent of the cost of educating each student, parents and grandparents help make George School's unique environment possible through their contributions. We are pleased to recognize their commitment to the school.

❖ JOHN M. GEORGE SOCIETY

MARK AND JANICE WALDMAN P '07, '14

EITC Participants*

“We were excited to learn about the EITC program . . .
It’s like charitable giving on steroids!”

Why did you choose to take part in EITC?

We were excited to learn about the EITC program because we saw it as a way to contribute to the school in a much bigger way than we would otherwise be able to afford. Because of our situation as stock owners in a small- to medium-sized family business incorporated in Pennsylvania, we could take money that we would otherwise pay in state taxes and earmark it for George School instead. It still costs us out-of-pocket dollars to make this contribution, but that contribution is multiplied times ten before the school receives it. It’s like charitable giving on steroids!

How do you feel about the financial aid your contributions support?

One of the reasons we are passionate about the EITC program is that the money is put to great use providing scholarships for George School students. We recently received a beautiful letter from the recipient of a scholarship through the EITC, who wrote, “I want to thank you for your peace of mind and care. Without your help there is no way that I would be able to attend this marvelous school. It’s people like you who keep this world full of doctors, and writers, and dancers. People who are less fortunate still deserve the chance to make their dreams come true.”

New Hope, Pennsylvania residents Mark and Janice Waldman have five children, two of whom have attended George School. The youngest, Scarlett '14, is currently a sophomore day student, while the next youngest, Daisy '07, just graduated from Connecticut College and is working in New York. The Waldmans' family business, located in the Lehigh Valley, manufactures women's swimwear, including the popular Miraclesuit.

* Pennsylvania's Educational Improvement Tax Credit (EITC) program provides tax credits to Pennsylvania businesses for supporting tuition assistance in independent schools, in essence allowing taxpaying businesses to direct where their tax dollars are spent. As a recognized scholarship recipient since the program's inception in 2001, George School has received several EITC gifts, which have helped low-income Pennsylvania students realize the dream of a George School education.

CHEN-YU CHENG AND SARAH LEE P '11

Parent Annual Fund Donors*

“We hope to help George School maintain its excellence, focusing not only on academic achievement but also on shaping students’ sense of right and wrong.”

The Cheng family lives in Taipei, Taiwan, where CY is CEO of Formosa Laboratories, a pharmaceutical company. Sarah is active in helping George School forge links with Taiwanese families and facilitate the exchange of information between the school and parents. Daughter Di-Yuei (Joyce) Cheng '11 is a first-year student at UCLA.

* Tuition covers approximately 74 percent of the full cost of a George School education. The generosity of the Chengs—and others who give to the Annual Fund—helps fill the gap, making the kinds of experiences Joyce enjoyed available to countless students.

What impact did George School have on your daughter?

Our daughter transformed during the three years she was at George School. She became much more confident, and her growing sense of pride motivated her to do her best in her academics and outside activities. As a result of the support she got—from teachers, her advisor, dorm parents, and even the health center when she got sick—she was happy and felt at home in the George School environment. The worship on Sunday had a profound impact on her, and she mentioned it over and over in her college essay. It is such a blessing for a young person to know the power and effect of quiet time and to gain an appreciation of the things around her.

Why is giving to George School so important to you?

Our philosophy is quite simple. We like to be associated with great communities, such as a great school, and the only way to make sure that happens is to participate, to help make those communities excellent. Seeing the change in our daughter motivated us even more. We hope to help George School maintain its excellence, focusing not only on academic achievement but also on shaping students’ sense of right and wrong. Parents all want their children to be proud of their schools. Yet to maintain greatness takes a lot of resources. If everyone chips in their piece, the task will become much easier to accomplish.

DON AND MARILYN HAYDEN P '02, '04, '08, '14

Parent Annual Fund Donors*

“As parents, we think we should be . . . doing our best to make George School a terrific place for students in the years and decades to come.”

What aspects of George School do you value most as a parent?

George School combines strong academics with a diverse, supportive student-faculty community and a values-based education that emphasizes the individual's responsibilities to others and the world at large. It's that combination of qualities that makes George School such a great place for students to grow and develop.

What about George School has had a lasting impact on your family?

As our three older children started college after four years at George School, they each, in slightly different ways, highlighted two areas of great impact. First, they felt incredibly well prepared for college—academically, socially, and emotionally. Second, they felt that the diversity of people and ideas they had experienced at George School was greater than what they were experiencing in college. Taken together, this showed us that George School had done a great job preparing our children for the next chapters in their lives.

What's important to you about giving to George School?

George School contributed a lot to our children—the result of all the work people did over many generations to make George School a terrific place before our children got there. As parents, we think we should be continuing that work, doing our best to make George School a terrific place for students in the years and decades to come. Everyone has different reasons to donate, but one thing we feel strongly about is faculty development. George School has a wonderful faculty, and we want to do everything we can to support, sustain, and develop that core strength. Contributing to the Annual Fund is a great way to accomplish these goals.

Residing in Newtown, Pennsylvania, the Haydens have sent all four children to George School: Sarah '02, Steve '04, Scott '08, and Becca '14. Don is a biotech entrepreneur and enjoys cycling and tennis. Marilyn is involved in various community activities and has sewn nearly 500 quilts for Quilts for Kids.

* Annual Fund donations help enhance George School's dynamic academic programs, preserve the beauty of our campus, and strengthen our community.

Annual Fund Donor*

“George School gives so much to all of us.
To me this is my piece of heaven.”

What has kept you at George School all these years?

I love it here. This is my home, my backyard. I'm just letting everyone else use it. I've got the best job in the world. I can do my own thing and am treated well, and I love making the place look good. Whoever laid this place out in the beginning did a great job. Coaching is the icing on the cake. The kids at George School keep me young.

How do you feel about the new athletics facilities?

I'm happy for the kids. The new turf field will be a big advantage for field hockey (daughter Taylor plays on the team) and will give them an even playing field with other schools. Football will use it, too (son Tyler plays football). And it will save on fertilizer and some maintenance. We won't have to line the track for every home meet, and instead of mowing, we'll fluff up the turf. The hope is that this will be a stepping-stone for a new field house, which will bring more athletes to George School. For baseball, though, we already have one of the best fields in Bucks County. If you put fences around it, it could be a minor league field.

Why do you give to the Annual Fund?

George School gives so much to all of us. Even before my kids went here, it was a great place to live and to work. To me this is my piece of heaven.

When it comes to George School, Vince has all the bases covered, literally and figuratively. As grounds supervisor, Vince has helped keep the campus beautiful since 1975 and has coached first softball and then baseball since 1977. In 2010, Vince played Officer Krupke in West Side Story, much to the delight of the audience. Though Vince didn't attend George School, the rest of his family has—wife Karen Baker Campellone '82, whose father was a George School administrator, and children Tyler '12 and Taylor '14. The Campellones enjoy living on the campus that Vince so carefully watches over.

* As demonstrated by the Campellones' consistent annual giving, participating in the Annual Fund is like sharing a potluck supper. Everyone brings something to the table, and everyone benefits in return.
